The NC State University Office for Institutional Equity & Diversity presents:

A discussion on the topic of diversity as a mercy from God as it relates to the Sufi poet Rumi’s teachings and the Quran.

Diversity is a Mercy from God

Dr. Tarik M. Quadir
Rumi Research Center
Mevlana (Rumi) University
Konya, Turkey

Tarik Quadir is a Bangladeshi-American who studied Sufism, Islamic Philosophy, Perennial Philosophy, and Islamic Environmentalism with the renowned Islamic philosopher Dr. Seyyed Hossein Nasr. Dr. Quadir received an M.A. in Islamic studies from George Washington University, an M.A. in Indo-Muslim Culture from Harvard University, and a Ph.d. from the University of Birmingham (UK) on the subject of the Islamic response to the environmental crisis. He now works in the Rumi Research Center at Mevlana (Rumi) University.

Tuesday, September 11, 2012
11:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.
Witherspoon Student Center, Room 356
Lunch will be served.